Project Management Symposium 2013

It is among the biggest and most diverse project management gathering in Asia. The theme for this year creates a platform - for the practitioners, the academe, and the various industries who value the project management practice - to facilitate the incubation of ideas and sharing of good practices in a single location. This rich diversity of knowledge creates the perfect recipe for project management to be tested and flourish up to scale. In this event, one gets to rub elbows with aspiring and veteran leaders from established institutions who have major footprints in Asia.
